LEGLESS WAR HERO SAVES BABY GIRL.

Miami, Fla.—Bob Steele, who lost both legs in the World War, saved the life of a baby girl on the beach here yesterday by pushing his wheeler platform in front of a motor-car to hurl her out of the way.

The machine knocked Steele over, but he escaped with slight injuries.

U. S. LEADS IN SHIP BUILDING

Launched 2,476,000 Gross Tons in 1920 Out of 5,861,000 Total

GREAT BRITAIN WAS SECOND

Two Countries Started Even At Beginning Of Year, But America Exceeded In Speed.

New York.—The United States led the world in the total of gross tons of merchant vessels launched in 1920, according to figures just made public by Lloyds Register of Shipping.

The total launchings in shipyards of the world amounted to 5,861,000 gross tons, a decrease of almost 1,300,000 from the 1919 figure, but an increase of more than 400,000 over 1918. The total for the United States was 2,476,000 tons, while Great Britain was second, with 2,055,000 tons, Japan launched 456,000 tons last year, a decrease from 611,000 tons in 1919.

Lloyds points out that at the beginning of 1920 the United States and Great Britain had on hand practically the same amount of construction to be completed, and credits American yards with greater speed than those in Great Britain, in that this country exceeded England's total by 20 per cent.

The decline in the total world tonnage launched was attributed to the decline in the American ship building program, America's launchings being 2,600,000 tons less than in the previous year. British production showed a gain of more than 400,000 tons.

In comparison with prewar figures the launchings in the United States were nine times as great as in 1913, and throughout the world there was a gain of about 75 per cent. For the first time since the beginning of the war Great Britain last year exceeded its 1913 figure, the gain being about 7 per cent.

SHE MAKES OTHERS HAPPY.

Cleveland Woman Has Open House To The Public.

Cleveland, O.—Acting on the philosophy that "to be happy you must make others happy," Mrs. Myrtha Perkins Swingle maintains "open house" in her home to the public every Tuesday night.

"The objects of these gatherings," Mrs. Swingle said, "are primarily constructive and will, in a small way, help to overcome prejudice and spread the ideals of friendship and goodwill. There is nothing to join, no dues to pay. The admission price is one smile and they all pay it cheerfully."

The idea started, Mrs. Swingle explained, when several young men who roomed at her home complained of getting lonesome.

HARDING'S VACATION.

Cruising Leisurely Down Sleepy Indian River.

Rockledge, Fla.—President Harding reached here in his houseboat cruise down the Florida coast and spent the night as the guest of Mrs. Harding's brother, Clifford Kling, who is a winter resident of Rockledge.

The houseboat Victoria took her time during the day sailing down the sleepy, semi-tropical reaches of the Indian River and did not arrive here until after 4 P. M.

Mr. Harding and his companions on the cruise played a round of golf, however, before dinner.

GETS SEAMAN'S CERTIFICATE.

Lord Mayor Of Cork May Ship At His Convenience.

Norfolk, Va.—Donal O'Callaghan, Lord Mayor of Cork, was surrendered by his counsel, Judge Joseph T. Lawless, to immigration authorities here. He immediately was issued a "seaman's certificate," and it was said that he could ship aboard a foreign-bound vessel at his convenience.

WILL BE GUILLOTINED.

German Borrowed Pistol From An American And Killed Him.

Coblenz.—Engelbert Manns, a German citizen, has been sentenced by a German court here to be guillotined for the murder of an American soldier last April. Manns is said to have killed the American with a pistol he borrowed from the soldier for the purpose of robbing him of 15,000 marks.

BILL TO PAY ROADS FAVORED.

Commerce Committee Orders Measure Reported To House.

Washington.—Favorable report was ordered by the House Commerce Committee on the Winslow bill amending the Transportation act to permit railroads and the American Railway Express Company to obtain partial payments from the Government on amounts due them under the guarantee provisions of the act.

RUSSIAN BORDER WARS MUST STOP

Wilson Calls For Halt in Violation of Soviet Soil

ADDRESSES NOTE TO LEAGUE

Outlines Position In Note To Hymans —Intimates Present Situation Is Due To Blunder Of Allied Powers.

Washington.—President Wilson has served notice on the European powers that he will not attempt to mediate in Armenia until an attempt is made to bring peace to the entire Russian borderland. To this end he asks the allied nations to give a pledge that they will not attack Russia.

The President's views are set forth in a note transmitted to Paul Hymans, president of the League of Nations Assembly by Acting Secretary Davis, under date of January 18, and just made public at the State Department.

The "distressful situation" of Armenia, which has been invaded by both the Turkish nationalists and the Bolsheviki, is only one detail of the vast Russian problem, the President says, and he "most earnestly urges" his conviction that it is only by a general and comprehensive treatment of the whole problem "by full and generous co-operation of the principal powers" that a hopeful approach to the pacification and independence of Armenia can be found.

The President says he has never believed that the problems raised by the Bolsheviki coup d'tat could be solved by military actions from the outside, and he expressed the hope "that the recent tragical events on the Polish front and in the Crimea have convinced all the world that armed invasion is not the way to bring peace to the people of Russia.

Mr. Wilson adds that these events have only strengthened his conviction that the Russian revolution, "beneficent in its main purposes," must be developed to a satisfactory conclusion by the Russians themselves, with such help from the outside as may be "voluntarily received."

The problem, he says, is one of the relations between Central Russia and the surrounding smaller national groups. Bitter and mutual mistrust, he states, is the cause of the unrest and instability along the border; the struggling new nationalities formerly part of the Russian Empire are afraid to disarm and return to the works of peace because they distrust the Bolsheviki, while the soviets contend they are afraid to demobilize because they fear new attacks.

Mr. Wilson expresses the opinion that the "present moment" offers a "peculiarly pressing challenge" to an attempt at general pacification on the Russian borders along the lines of a clear distinction between offense and defense.

"Such an attempt," the note continues, "seems to the President to be the logical outgrowth—in fact, the only logical development—of the request to mediate in the Armenian conflict. It is obvious to all that these small struggling border states will not attack great Russia unless encouraged by promise of support from the stronger powers."

The President then suggests a "public and solemn" declaration among the powers to refrain from extending such aid, declaring that in this way responsibility for any new war which might break out on the Russian border would then be "clearly placed."

"If the principal powers represented on the Council of the League," Mr. Wilson says in conclusion, "find themselves in accord with the President in this matter and will assure him of their moral and diplomatic support, he will instruct his personal representative, Mr. Morgenthau, to proceed at once on his mission."

SAYS U. S. IS LAWLESS.

Dr. Crafts Blames Bootlegger For Crime Wave.

Washington.—The United States was described as "one of the most lawless nations in the world" in a sermon delivered here by Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the International Reform Bureau and father of the so-called blue law movement. Strict enforcement of the Volstead law is the only remedy, according to Dr. Crafts, who blamed the bootlegger for the crime wave which recently swept New York and other cities.

FARE RATES BY THE POUND.

Air Lines Will Base Fares On Entirely New Plan.

Chicago.—The mammoth air liners which are to carry mail from Chicago to New York starting May 1 will carry passengers at so much a pound, Alfred Lawson, inventor, who holds the contract, announced. "We will carry mail as so much a pound and will make the same rule regarding passengers," said Lawson. "Why should a fat man weighing 280 pounds expect to ride at the same rate charged a man of 100 pounds?"

$10,000 IN JEWELS LOST.

Boston Lawyer's Wife Mislays Valuable Handbag.

New York.—Mrs. L. A. Conrad, wife of a Boston lawyer, reported the loss of a handbag containing $10,000 worth of jewels to the police here. She said she believed she had left the purse in a theatre or had dropped it on the street en route to the theatre from the Biltmore Hotel where she was stopping.

D'ANNUNZIO BIDS FAREWELL TO FIUME AFTER SPEECH.

Trieste. — Gabriele d'Annunzio left Fiume by auto. His departure was pathetic. The poet made a long speech in the Council Hall and Dr. Antonio Grossich, the provisional governor, replied.

The stores were closed and there was a great public demonstration.

EX-PREACHER IN BIG MAIL THEFT

Confesses After Recovery of Loot in His Home and Garages

BETRAYED BY FAT BANKROLL

Postoffice Authorities Informed By His Partners In Garage Business—$183,000 Recovered.

Mount Vernon, Ill.—Guy Kyle, former pastor of the Free Methodist Church of Mount Vernon, arrested in connection with the theft here of 31 packages of registered mail containing $185,000 in cash, confessed he was implicated in the robbery, Postoffice inspectors announced.

The inspectors said Kyle accompanied them to one of his garages where they located $5,600 more of the stolen money, bringing the total amount recovered to about $18,300.

Kyle also implicated several others in the theft according to the inspectors who declined to go into the details of his confession.

No additional arrests have yet been made it was said.

Approximately $100,000 was recovered at the Kyle home where it was concealed in an egg crate and about $75,000 and $1,600, respectively in two garages of which Rev. Mr. Kyle is part owner.

Suspicion was directed against the former pastor when Loren Williamson, Kyles' partner in the garage business, informed the inspector that Kyle had been displaying large amounts of money in the last week.

Postoffice inspectors expressed the belief that the $27,000 in negotiable securities which also were stolen, had been burned to destroy possible clues.

Rev. Mr. Kyles is about 45 years old and came here seven years ago from Keyesport, Ill. He was pastor of the Free Methodist Church for three years and for four years has been in the garage business.

He probably will be taken to Danville for arraignment, the Postoffice inspectors added.

BAY STATE LEADS IN PAPERS.

Has Copy For Every Two Persons, Mississippi Tails List.

Montreal.—Only one copy of a daily newspaper, printed in the State of Mississippi, is distributed for every 38 residents of the State, while there is a single copy available for every two persons in Massachusetts. This was pointed out here by R. S. Kellogg, secretary of the News Print Service Bureau, at the annual meeting of the organization, an international association of paper manufacturers.

The District of Columbia, he declared, prints more papers for its size than any State. New York State is second to Massachusetts in the number of papers printed in proportion to the residents, while Missouri and California are tied for third.

TO BE PASSED TO HARDING.

Refunding U. S. Loans To Europe Meets Delay.

Washington.—Refunding of American loans to European governments will be passed along by the Treasury Department to the next administration. It was learned officially that the British representative coming here for conference and final ratification of the tentative understanding to be reached with Great Britain has postponed his departure for America, and it is indicated that this, with many other similar problems, will be delayed.

There are indications that the refunding operation may await action on the latest proposals of the reparations commissions for payment of Germany's war debt to France and other nations in the form of manufacturers and goods.

NEBRASKA WOMEN QUIT PLANE.

Take Electoral Vote By Train From Des Moines To Chicago.

Des Moines, Iowa.—Mrs. H. H Wheeler and Mrs. Draper Smith, who arrived here by airplane, en route to Washington with Nebraska's electoral vote, went to Chicago by train, weather conditions interferring with a continuation of the flight from here.

LEAGUE COUNCIL CALLED.

Will Meet At Geneva Third Week In February.

London.—The Council of the League of Nations has been summoned to meet at Geneva on February 21, it was announced today.

FINDS $21,800 IN BONDS.

Chicago Man Stumbles Over Valuable Package.

Chicago.—Bonds valued at $21,800, loosely wrapped in a newspaper, were found by D. F. Crimmins, who accidentally stumbled over the package as he entered a teaming company's office. Mr. Crimmins notified Federal officials, who began a check to ascertain if the bonds were part of the loot obtained by five bandits who stole 12 sacks of mail from a truck in the Union Station.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

(By REV. P. B. FITZWATER, D. D., Teacher of English Bible in the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.)

(©, 1920, Western Newspaper Union.)

LESSON FOR JANUARY 30.

JESUS' OFFICIAL PRESENTATION AS KING.

LESSON TEXT—Matt. 21:1-46.

GOLDEN TEXT—Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord.—Matt. 21:9.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Matt. 20: 29-34; Luke 19:29-46; John 12:12-19; I Pet. 3:15.

PRIMARY TOPIC—The Story of a Wonderful Procession.

JUNIOR TOPIC—A Wonderful Procession.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Honoring Christ in Our Lives.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Lordship of Jesus: Its Meaning for Us.

I. The Preparation (vv. 1-6).

1. The sending of the disciples for the ass (vv. 1-3). He told them just where to go to find it and told them how to answer the inquiry of the one who owned it. This shows how perfectly our Lord knows our ways. God uses unlikely and apparently insignificant things in the accomplishment of his purposes.

2. The fulfillment of prophecy (vv. 4, 5). Some five hundred years before this Zechariah had made this prediction. If the predictions of His first coming were thus literally fulfilled there is no alternative but to believe that those of His second coming will be literally fulfilled. The prediction of Zechariah 14:3-11 will be just as literal as that of Zechariah 9:9.

3. The obedience of the disciples (v. 6). The request may have seemed strange and unreasonable, but they fully obeyed. True disciples will render full and glad obedience no matter how strange the command may seem.

II. The Entrance of the King (vv 7-11).

1. The disciples put their garments upon the ass and set the Lord upon them (v. 7). This act showed that they recognized Him as their King (II Kings 9:13).

2. The multitude. Some spread their garments in the way; others who had no garments to spare cut down branches and did the same with them, which was just as acceptable to Him. To give what we have and to do what we can is all that He demands of us.

3. The city shaken (vv. 10, 11). This was a stirring time, but one more stirring is coming. That will be when the Lord comes in power and glory.

III. The King Rejected (vv. 12-17).

The immediate occasion of this rejection was the cleansing of the temple. A like cleansing had been made some two years before (John 2:13-17), but the worldlings had gone back to their old trade.

IV. The Nation Rejected by the King (vv. 18-46).

Having in this official presentation shown their unwillingness to receive Christ, He turns from them and by parables makes known their awful condition.

1. The barren fig tree cursed (vv. 18-22). It was on the morrow after His official presentation as Jesus was returning from Jerusalem that He observed the unfruitful fig tree. Because of hunger He sought for figs, and finding none He caused to fall upon it a withering curse. This fig tree full of leaves but barren of fruit is a type of Israel. With its leaves it gave a show of life, but being destitute of fruit it had no right to encumber the ground. The nation thus stood like a mountain in the way of the gospel. He encouraged the disciples by showing them that if they had faith even this great mountain should not stand in their way.

2. The parable of the two sons (vv. 28-32). Both sons were told by the father to work in the vineyard. The one, like the profligate publican, refused outright to obey, but afterward repented and went. The other pretended willingness to obey, but in reality did not. The first one represents the publicans and harlots; the second, the self-righteous, proud pharisees, priests and elders. The Lord declared that the publicans and harlots would go into the kingdom before them.

3. The parable of the householder (vv. 33-46).

(1) The householder. This was God himself. (2) The vineyard. This means Israel (see Isa. 5:1-7; Jer. 2:21; Ps. 80:8). The Lord went to particular pains to gather out this nation and make it separate, bestowing peculiar favors upon it. This vineyard so well kept and provided for did not bear fruit. (3) The husbandmen. These were the spiritual guides, the rulers and teachers of Israel, the members of the sanhedrin. (4) The servants sent for the fruits of the vineyard. These were the various prophets whom God sent to the nation. The maltreatment and rejection of the prophets is fully set forth in the Scriptures. They were beaten and killed. (5) The Son. He is the Lord Jesus Christ, God's only and beloved Son. He came into their midst. They knew Him to be the Son, but they did not receive His message nor bow to His authority. They cast Him out of the vineyard and slew Him. They knew this was intended for them. He now asked them for their own verdict upon such villainous ingratitude. He took the place of a judge and pronounced judgment upon them on the basis of their own verdict.

Our Lord's Attitude.

Think of our Lord's attitude toward those who did Him an injury. How touchy most of us are, easily hurt and quick to resent the least encroachment upon which we consider our rights. Paul wrote to the Christians in Ephesus and said: "Let all bitterness wrath, and anger, and clamor, and evil speaking be put away from you, with all malice." He well knew that there were a lot of Christians who lacked the grace of good-will.

DAIRY POINTS

BULL ASSOCIATIONS GAINING

In Count-Up for Last Fiscal Year an Increase of 57 Per Cent Is Noted —More in South.

In the count-up of bull associations for the last fiscal year made by the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture, associations are found all over the country. There are now 123, where there were only 78 the year before. This is an increase of 57 per cent. Thirty of the 48 states in the union are on the list.

Associations are not equally numerous in all states, however, for four—Alabama, Pennsylvania, Mississippi and South Carolina — furnish nearly half of the total. The number of associations found in each of these four states is as follows: Alabama, 7; Pennsylvania, 21; Mississippi, 11; and South Carolina, 17. Three of these leading states are in the cotton belt. Dairying is comparatively new in that part of the country, and the men going into the business are building on the right foundations from the start. One of the important foundations of effective and lucrative dairying is cooperation, and the extension work carried on by the dairy division and by the various state agricultural colleges has been the means of introducing efficient methods at the outset wherever dairying is taken up in the South.

A Bull Should Be Selected to Improve the Dairy Qualities of the Herd He Is to Head.

Pennsylvania is an old-established dairy state, but has taken to the bull-association idea in a remarkable manner, and has in fact the largest number of all.

MOLASSES FOR DAIRY STOCK

Especially Valuable Where Cows Are Not Permitted to Exercise—Replaces Green Feed.

One of the helps of the livestock feeder which is being used more generally every day is the crude, or low grade, molasses from a sugar mill. The value of the feed has been found to be not only in the actual nutrition content, as indicated by the analysis, but because of its quality—not exactly succulency, but akin to that—which makes it an appetizer. Especially is it valuable where the cows are not permitted to run on pasture or where they are not permitted to exercise. The molasses acts both as a digester and tonic and takes the place of green feed which tends to keep the cows healthy and increases all their normal functions, such as the milk producing powers. Then, too, dairy cows which are confined in small areas often lose their appetites, and when they do milk production naturally drops off. By adding a little molasses to the ration they will regain their appetites and besides eat more than they did without the molasses, which of course increases their milk production.

LIBERAL FEEDING URGED

Dairy extensionists and authorities at University farm, St. Paul, Minn., are agreed that a policy of liberal feeding with dairy cattle is profitable and should be pursued wherever circumstances make it possible. The importance of adequate feeding has been shown time and time again. In one instance which may now be cited, feeding costs were increased in a year from $53 per cow to $83, but the income from each cow increased from $129 to $218 in the same interim, so that for an extra expenditure of $30 profits were increased $89 per cow.

WINTER ATTENTION TO MILK

Unusual Care Should Be Exercised in Washing All Tin Utensils Used in Dairy.

The winter care of milk calls for unusual care in washing all tin things used. In summer it is easier to keep clean; we have the sunshine to help—the world's greatest purifier. So much the more reason why we should place extra stress on using hot water and soap, with good pure cold water for rinsing.

HAVE GOOD PUREBREDS ONLY

Pedigrees Don't Amount to Much Unless Daughters Are Better Than Their Dams.

No stock-raiser should be satisfied until he has the services of purebred sires for his farm; not merely a purebred, but a productive purebred. Pedigrees don't amount to anything unless a sire can produce daughters better than their dams.

Plan Farm Work Ahead.

Most of the things put off until tomorrow should have been done yesterday. A careful planning of work this winter will enable you next spring to do today's job today.

Birds Check Insect Life.

Birds have a definite place to fill in the economy of nature. They are the principal check on insect life.

Sign of Prosperity.

Well-painted buildings are a sign of prosperity.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

Insist on Genuine Ford Parts

Imitation "Ford" parts are being sold by many mail order houses, down-town stores and garages to unsuspecting Ford owners as "Ford" parts. But they are not Genuine Ford parts. They are made by concerns who have no connection whatsoever with the Ford Motor Company. Tests have shown them to break when the genuine Ford parts didn't even bend.

The Authorized Ford Dealers are your protection. As such, we handle nothing but the Genuine Ford parts. They are made from the famous Ford Vanadium Steel, and each part—according to its use—is heat-treated in the way that will give it the longest wearing qualities.

WHISPERFOOT.

Synopsis.—Warned by his physician that he has not more than six months to live, Dan Failing sits despondently on a park bench, wondering where he should spend those six months. Memories of his grandfather and a deep love for all things of the wild help him in reaching a decision. In a large southern Oregon city he meets people who had known and loved his grandfather, a famous frontiersman. He makes his home with Silas Lennox, a typical westerner. The only other members of the household are Lennox's son, "Bill," and daughter, "Snowbird." Their abode is in the Umpqua divide, and there Failing plans to live out the short span of life which he has been told is his. From the first Failing's health shows a marked improvement, and in the companionship of Lennox and his son and daughter he fits into the woods life as if he had been born to it. By quick thinking and a remarkable display of "nerve" he saves Lennox's life and his own when they are attacked by a mad coyote. Lennox declares he is a reincarnation of his grandfather, Dan Failing I, whose fame as a woodsman is a household word. Dan learns that an organized band of outlaws, of which Bert Cranston is the leader, is setting forest fires. Landry Hildreth, a former member of the gang, has been induced to turn state's evidence. Cranston shoots Hildreth and leaves him for dead.

For when all things are said and done, there were few bigger cowards in the whole wilderness world than Whisperfoot. A good many people think that Graycoat the coyote could take lessons from him in this respect. But others, knowing how a hunter is brought in occasionally with almost all human resemblance gone from him because a cougar charged in his death agony, think this is unfair to the larger animal. And it is true that a full-grown cougar will sometimes attack horned cattle, something that no American animal cares to do unless he wants a good fight on his paws and of which the very thought would throw Graycoat into a spasm; and there have been even stranger stories, if one could quite believe them. A certain measure of respect must be extended to any animal that will hunt the great bull elk, for to miss the stroke and get caught beneath the churning, lashing, slashing, razor-edged front hoofs is simply death, painful and without delay. But the difficulty lies in the fact that these things are not done in the ordinary, rational blood of hunting. What an animal does in its death agony, or to protect its young, what great game it follows in the starving times of winter, can be put to neither its debit nor its credit. A coyote will charge when mad. A raccoon will put up a wicked fight when cornered. A hen will peck at the hand that robs her nest. When hunting was fairly good, Whisperfoot avoided the elk and steer almost as punctiliously as he avoided men, which is saying very much indeed; and any kind of terrier could usually drive him straight up a tree.

But he did like to pretend to be very great and terrible among the smaller forest creatures. And he was Fear itself to the deer. A human hunter who would kill two deer a week for fifty-two weeks would be called a much uglier name than poacher; but yet this had been Whisperfoot's record, on and off, ever since his second year. Many a great buck wore the scar of the full stroke—after which Whisperfoot had lost his hold. Many a fawn had crouched panting with terror in the thickets at just a tawny light on the gnarled limb of a pine. Many a doe would grow great-eyed and terrified at just his strange, pungent smell on the wind.

He yawned again, and his fangs looked white and abnormally large in the moonlight. His great, green eyes were still clouded and languorous from sleep. Then he began to steal up the ridge toward his hunting grounds. It was a curious thing that he walked straight in the face of the soft wind that came down from the snow fields, and yet there wasn't a weathercock to be seen anywhere. And neither had the chipmunk seen him wet a paw and hold it up, after the approved fashion of holding up a finger. He had a better way of knowing—a chill at the end of his whiskers.

The little, breathless night sounds in the brush around him seemed to madden him. They made a song to him, a strange, wild melody that even such frontiersmen as Dan and Lennox could not experience. A thousand smells brushed down to him on the wind, more potent than any wine or lust. He began to tremble all over with rapture and excitement. But unlike Cranston's trembling, no wilderness ear was keen enough to hear the leaves rustling beneath him.

CHAPTER II.

Shortly after nine o'clock, Whisperfoot encountered his first herd of deer. But they caught his scent and scattered before he could get up to them. He met Woof, grunting through the underbrush, and he punctiliously, but with wretched spirit, left the trail. A fight with Woof the bear was one of the most unpleasant experiences that could be imagined. He had a pair of strong arms of which one embrace of a cougar's body meant death in one long shriek of pain. Of course they didn't fight often. They had entirely opposite interests. The bear was a berry-eater and a honey-grubber, and the cougar cared too much for his own life and beauty to tackle Woof in a hunting way.

A fawn leaped from the thicket in front of him, startled by his sound in the thicket. The truth was, Whisperfoot had made a wholly unjustified misstep on a dry twig, just at the crucial moment. Perhaps it was the fault of Woof, whose presence had driven Whisperfoot from the trail, and perhaps because old age and stiffness was coming upon him. But neither of these facts appeased his anger. He could scarcely suppress a snarl of fury and disappointment.

He continued along the ridge, still stealing, still alert, but his anger increasing with every moment. The fact that he had to leave the trail again to permit still another animal to pass, and a particularly insignificant one too, didn't make him feel any better. This animal had a number of curious stripes along his back, and usually did nothing more desperate than steal eggs and eat bird fledglings. Whisperfoot could have crushed him with one bite, but this was one thing that the great cat, as long as he lived, would never try to do. He got out of the way politely when Stripe-back was still a quarter of a mile away; which was quite a compliment to the little animal's ability to introduce himself. Stripe-back was familiarly known as a skunk.

Shortly after ten, the mountain lion had a remarkably fine chance at a buck. The direction of the wind, the trees, the thickets and the light were all in his favor. It was old Blacktail, wallowing in the salt lick; and Whisperfoot's heart bounded when he detected him. No human hunter could have laid his plans with greater care. He had to cut up the side of the ridge, mindful of the wind. Then there was a long dense thicket in which he might approach within fifty feet of the lick, still with the wind in his face. Just beside the lick was another deep thicket, from which he could make his leap.

A Full Twenty Yards Farther.

His body lowered. The tail lashed back and forth, and now it had begun to have a slight vertical motion that frontiersmen have learned to watch for. He placed every paw with consummate grace, and few sets of human nerves have sufficient control over leg muscles to move with such astonishing patience. He scarcely seemed to move at all.

But when scarcely ten feet remained to stalk, a sudden sound pricked through the darkness. It came from afar, but it was no less terrible. It was really two sounds, so close together that they sounded as one. Neither Blacktail nor Whisperfoot had any delusions about them. They recognized them at once, in strange ways under the skin that no man may describe, as the far-off reports of a rifle. Just today Blacktail had seen his doe fall bleeding when this same sound, only louder, spoke from a covert from which Bert Cranston had poached her—and he left the lick in one bound.

Terrified though he was by the rifle shot, still Whisperfoot sprang. But the distance was too far. His outstretched paw hummed down four feet behind Blacktail's flank. Then forgetting everything but his anger and disappointment, the great cougar opened his mouth and howled.

The long night was almost done when he got sight of further game. Once a flock of grouse exploded with a roar of wings from a thicket; but they had been wakened by the first whisper of dawn in the wind, and he really had no chance at them. Soon after this, the moon set.

The larger creatures of the forest are almost as helpless in absolute darkness as human beings. It is very well to talk of seeing in the dark, but from the nature of things, even vertical pupils may only respond to light. No owl or bat can see in absolute darkness. It became increasingly likely that Whisperfoot would have to retire to his lair without any meal whatever.

But still he remained, hoping against hope. After a futile fifteen minutes of watching a trail, he heard a doe feeding on a hillside. Its footfall was not so heavy as the sturdy tramp of a buck, and besides, the bucks would be higher on the ridges this time of morning. He began a cautious advance toward it.

For the first fifty yards the hunt was in his favor. He came up wind, and the brush made a perfect cover. But the doe unfortunately was standing a full twenty yards farther, in an open glade. Under ordinary circumstances, Whisperfoot would not have made an attack. A cougar can run swiftly, but a deer is light itself. The big cat would have preferred to linger, a motionless thing in the thickets, hoping some other member of the deer herd to which the doe must have belonged would come into his ambush. But the hunt was late, and Whisperfoot was very, very angry. Too many times this night he had missed his kill. In desperation, he leaped from the thicket and charged the deer.

In spite of the preponderant odds against him, the charge was almost a success. He went fully half the distance between them before the deer perceived him. Then she leaped. There seemed to be no interlude of time between the instant that she beheld the dim, tawny figure in the air and that in which her long legs pushed out in a spring. But she didn't leap straight ahead. She knew enough of the cougars to know that the great cat would certainly aim for her head and neck in the same way that a duck-hunter leads a fast-flying duck—hoping to intercept her leap. Even as her feet left the ground she seemed to whirl in the air, and the deadly talons whipped down in vain. Then, cutting back in front, she raced down wind.

It is usually the most unmitigated folly for a cougar to chase a deer against which he has missed his stroke; and it is also quite fatal to his dignity. And whoever doubts for a minute that the larger creatures have no dignity, and that it is not very dear to them, simply knows nothing about the ways of animals. They cling to it to the death. But tonight one disappointment after another had crumbled, as the rains crumble leaves, the last vestige of Whisperfoot's self-control. Snarling in fury, he bounded after the doe.

She was lost to sight at once in the darkness, but for fully thirty yards he raced in her pursuit. If he had stopped to think, it would have been one of the really great surprises of his life to hear the sudden, unmistakable stir and movement of a large, living creature not fifteen feet distant in the thicket.

He didn't stop to think at all. He didn't puzzle on the extreme unlikelihood of a doe halting in her flight from a cougar. It is doubtful whether, in the thickets, he had any perceptions of the creature other than its movements. He was running down wind, so it is certain that he didn't smell it. If he saw it at all, it was just as a shadow, sufficiently large to be that of a deer. It was moving, crawling as Woof the bear sometimes crawled, seemingly to get out of his path. And Whisperfoot leaped straight at it.

It was a perfect shot. He landed high on its shoulders. His head lashed down, and the white teeth closed. All the long life of his race he had known that pungent essence that flowed forth. His senses perceived it, a message shot along his nerves to his brain. And then he opened his mouth in a high, far-carrying squeal of utter, abject terror.

He sprang a full fifteen feet back into the thickets; then crouched. The hair stood still at his shoulders, his claws were bared; he was prepared to fight to the death. He didn't understand. He only knew the worst single terror of his life. It was not a doe that he had attacked in the darkness. It was not Urson the porcupine, or even Woof. It was that imperial master of all things, man himself. Unknowing, he had attacked Landy Hildreth, lying wounded from Cranston's bullet beside the trail. Word of the arson ring would never reach the settlements, after all.

Setting a forest fire.

PERSIA LAND OF CULTURE

Has Been a Favored Region From the Very Earliest Age—Capital Beautiful in Ruin.

Persia ranks among the foremost of ancient nations that have exercised the greatest influence on the fates of Europe. It has been a region of culture from the earliest age, where traces of the pure religion of Zerdusht which he brought among the nations from Mount Albordi, may still be recognized.

The people who inhabit the southern side of the great ridge of hills have always displayed greater inventive power and greater constancy in preserving their institutions than the tribes who dwell to the northward. The former they owe to the ease and leisure afforded them by a most propitious climate and by their settled habits, not being prompted by a restless spirit to a migratory life.

The remains of the ancient Persian capital, Persepolis, as well as the Egyptian, Thebes, and the ruins on the higher peninsula of India, bear the expression of majestic grandeur and of a desire to hand down to futurity eternal feelings of certain great truths or remarkable events. These elevated feelings are not due to climate, historians claim, pointing to the same countries today where, instead of simplicity and grandeur, a fondness for singularity and false refinement is now displayed.—Detroit News.

More people would avoid getting into the fire if they had sense enough to keep out of the frying pan.

Umbrellas are great bluffers; it's a case of put up or shut up with them.

STYLES DECREED FOR THE CHILDREN

THE stores are displaying entire outfits of ready-made clothes for children of all ages. For the smaller ones there are so many practical and attractive frocks that it seems hardly worth while to make them at home, except that the home seamstress can put in little individual touches not to be found in ready-mades. The styles displayed and the materials used are interesting to every one, for these ready-made garments are the work of expert specialists and they have turned out frocks more charmingly childish than ever for the coming spring.

For pretty frocks white and colored organdies appear to have inspired the imagination of designers. The daintiest dresses are made of them nearly always in combination of white and one color, as white with frills of pink or blue or yellow. These frills or ruchings have picot edges usually in black. Very dressy little frocks are made of the light-colored organdies and have adorable sun-bonnets to match, shaped with many shirrings. There are many pretty frocks of colored, dotted swiss, made up with yokes and sleeves of white organdy matching the white dots. Where the body of the frock joins the short yoke sprays of tiny colored flowers and foliage are embroidered.

Following these sheer affairs come the small checked ginghams, in white and a color, banded and finished with white organdy which serves for collar, cuffs, sash or yokes, and sleeves, and then come the plain chambrays, usually trimmed with applique-scalloped borders of chambray in a darker color, outlined with simple stitches in mercerized floss. For very little folks, from two years to four or five, there are innumerable practical dresses and rompers, much like that one shown in the picture. Strong plain cotton or coarse linen is used for making it and its edges are finished with buttonholed scallops. There is a little simple needlework on plaits at each side and buttonholed slashes about the waist for a belt of ribbon or of the material, to slip through.

Resort Hats Beguile Us

THE shops are displaying those inspiring new hats made for the benefit of southern tourists, that allure all of us because of their beauty, and, quite as much, because of their suggestion of springtime and pleasure. They prove as interesting to those who stay at home as to those who journey south and furnish all the cues for demi-season and early spring millinery. In sports hats they set the pace for the coming summer, but they include tailored and dress hats that, at least, influence the incoming fashions in these hats.

A group of four hats pictured above includes a sports hat, a street hat and two that are intended for more formal wear. The sports hat at the upper left is made of white satin and has a crown in four sections decorated with narrow black braid in parallel lines. Each of the decorated sections is centered with a row of black jet cabochons and the facing is of black satin. "Smart and informal" is written over this hat, that owns the distinction that goes with black and white to begin with, and everything else that spells "class."

Next to the sports hat is a dressy model in black hair braid with a flange of malines about its brim making a soft shadow in the eyes. Its soft, round crown is covered with a veil of fine chantilly lace. Such hats often shelter a small spray of exquisite flowers or fruit, snuggling against the crown or on the brim. A little less fragile is the hat with crown of paon velvet, embellished with stitches of silver-gray silk. This hat has an upturned brim edged with braid and is draped with a fine net veil having an embroidery in gray for a border. The street hat which finishes the group has a four-cornered brim covered with a striped and plaited material and a round crown draped with satin. It is another black and white combination and is finished with loops of black velvet in a daring pose on the right side of the brim.

Make Braided Trimming.

All sorts of interesting things in the way of trimming are done with cotton materials. Nothing could be simpler than braiding strands of organdie loosely and using them to border a pink negligee and to finish the sleeves, as well as for a girdle. Coarse net also is braided to make such a trimming. Bright colored wooden beads are strung on strands before they are braided to introduce a bit of unusual color. Ribbons, too, are braided and used for trimmings.

Potpourri Bag.

To make a dainty potpourri bag, cover a cardboard circle about four inches in diameter with silk. To this shirr some crepe de chine and georgette of contrasting color. The bag is filled with potpourri. Baby ribbon is used to tie it. The top of it is trimmed with ribbon ends and flowers.

The Tractor That Stays

IT is pretty generally accepted now that the farm power of the future will be generated by kerosene and other low-grade, low-priced fuels. A tractor that operates successfully on these fuels, insuring dependable power at drawbar and belt, is the tractor that will stay because it will pay.

International 8-16 Tractor has established its reputation for satisfactory performance in the school of experience. It has passed successfully through long and rigid tests under actual field conditions in all sections of the country.

Belt work is becoming more and more important. The use of small threshers, ensilage cutters, etc., combined with a suitable tractor, is making the farmer more and more independent.

All of this emphasizes the value to you of an International 8-16 tractor that is designed to do tip-top belt work as well as taking care of field and road jobs.

Place your order now and avoid shipping delays.

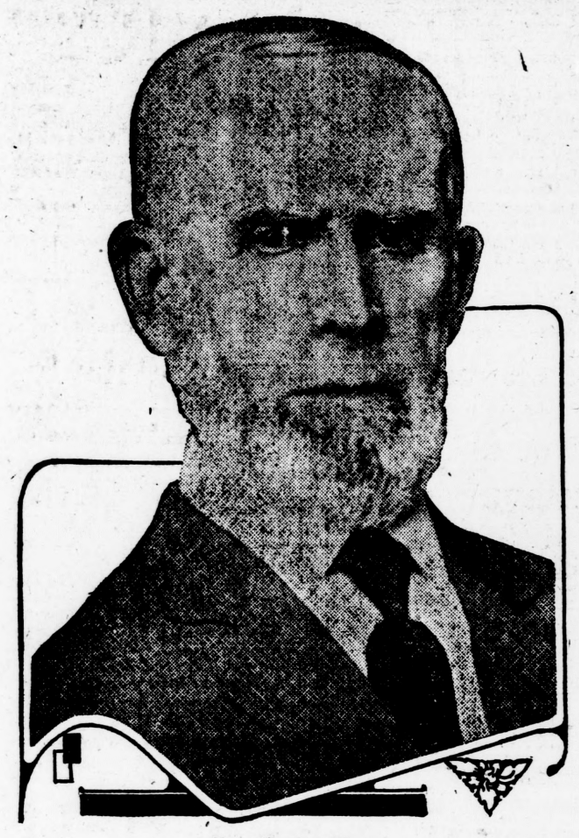
Quaker Minister Is Grateful to Tanlac



Rev. Parker Moon

Nearly everybody in Southwest Missouri either knows or has heard of the Rev. Parker Moon, who for a full half century has devoted his life and talents to Sunday school and organization work for the Society of Friends or Quakers.

"Uncle Parker," as he is more familiarly known, came from fine old rugged Quaker stock, and there is not a better known or more highly respected citizen in that part of the state. In referring to his remarkable restoration to health by Tanlac, he said:

"About five years ago I suffered a general breakdown. My principal trouble was nervous indigestion. My appetite was very poor and my food seldom agreed with me, and I had to live on a very restricted diet. I suffered a great deal from headaches and dizzy spells; I had severe pains across the small of my back and was badly constipated most of the time. In fact, I was so weak and rundown I was not able to attend to my duties.

"This condition made me very nervous and I could not sleep at night. Frequently I would lie awake most all night and was in that condition more or less for five years. My physician said he could not do anything for me and suggested a change of climate. I then moved to Texas and went back and forth three times, but did not get the relief I had hoped for. Finally, I got so bad off I was not able to get around with any degree of comfort. I was also told I had heart trouble.

"I had read about Tanlac and, as it had been very highly recommended to me, I decided to try it. I got a bottle and had taken only a few doses until I could notice a marked improvement in my condition. I noticed especially that I was not troubled any more with sour stomach after eating, which was a great relief.

"I kept on taking Tanlac until I fully regained my health. My appetite is splendid; I enjoy my meals and I do not find it necessary now to take any laxative medicines of any kind. I can sleep much better and am not nearly so nervous.

"I take great pleasure in recommending Tanlac to anyone who needs a good system builder, or who suffers with stomach trouble. I have recommended Tanlac to a great many of my friends and am pleased to reach others by giving this statement for publication."

Tanlac is sold by leading druggists everywhere.

As It Sounded to Her.

A little girl was asked, upon her return home, how she liked the singing of the congregation in the church.

"I liked it very much, indeed," she said, "although all the people said it was bad."

"'All the people said it was bad.' What do you mean, my dear?"

"Oh, it was so bad that I heard the people praying, 'Lord, have mercy upon us miserable singers.'"

A Flying Furnace.

The average meteor when first seen is about 80 miles above the surface of the earth, and disappears from view at 30 miles. Thus, it travels 50 miles before the atmospheric friction burns it up. This friction, it is reckoned, raises it to a temperature of something like 3,000,000 degrees.

Turf as Substitute for Cork.

Turf submitted to a patented chemical treatment is the substitute for cork of a German chemical factory. The material is stated to be as firm, light and sound-proof as cork itself, and it has high resistance to dampness, being also of great value as an insulating product. Claimed to be in some respects even superior to cork, it is especially recommended as a substitute material that is likely to prove epecially important for insulation and building purposes.

VITAL STEERING SYSTEM OF AUTO

Proper Lubrication at All Times One of Most Important Cares of Owner.

INSPECT GEARS FREQUENTLY

Faults That Lead to All Kinds of Troubles Explained and Means Outlined for Preventing Them—Gears Always Working.

The vital steering system of the automobile is about as popular with the motorist as the traffic cop. A system so important as the steering should be well understood and well cared for. The fundamentals are easy to understand. In practically all cars there in the same fundamental design, consisting of a steering wheel, which operates a post at the bottom of which are reduction gears. One of the gears is turned directly by the wheel, the other, being in mesh with the post gear, also turns. This second gear operates a so-called steering arm to which the drag link is fastened.

The drag link connects with one front wheel through a knuckle arm and to the other front wheel through the tie rod and another steering arm.

It is clear to see that in this system there are numerous joints and other rubbing or moving surfaces, and every one of them must be constantly lubricated.

Gears Always in Action.

To the driver the steering system appears to be at rest except when the car is turned around, but actually the joints and gears are always doing some work, always rubbing, even though it be a little. The gears must always be covered with grease or graphite.

Usually there is a case which houses these gears, but sometimes they are exposed. Once every three months these gears should be inspected and the housing replaced.

The same applies to the ball joints at the drag link ends and to the tie rod joints.

If this is not done parts will get dry and rust and steering begins to be difficult. You must turn the front wheels by first overcoming the friction of the rusty parts.

In time those rusty parts break. One of the commonest causes of hard steering is due to a stiff steering knuckle. The steering knuckle is part of the front axle that moves and permits the wheels to be turned.

There are two knuckles and they must move very freely.

It is necessary to lubricate the knuckle or so-called kingpins every day. Grease is effective if sufficient pressure is used to force it to the rubbing surface, otherwise oil should be employed. If you have ordinary grease cups and wish to make sure the pins will get lubrication, substitute large oil cups.

All Show Play in System.

Every car shows a certain amount of play in the steering system, that is the steering wheel can be turned a little before the front wheels move. There should be some play but not as much as the average car has.

Play develops naturally, due to wear of all parts, but it also develops more rapidly because owners have a habit of turning the wheel when the car is standing. This puts an added strain on the rubbing parts of the steering system, and wear is more rapid.

When wear does occur it should be compensated for by adjustment at the right place. Sometimes the ball joints are badly worn, again it may be the knuckle pins or the tie-rod connections, or the gears in the post. Do not adjust the gears in the post when the ball joints or other parts are at fault.

Find out where the play exists by feeling the various parts separately and pulling and pushing them. A little play in all is likely to develop quite a bit of play at the wheel because of the gearing.

ELIMINATING DANGER FROM EXHAUST GASES

Simple Method Illustrated for Carrying Away Fumes.

Five Minutes in Small Unventilated Garage With Door Shut and Engine Working Means Another Job for Undertaker.

When Nat Willis, the noted actor, was found lying beneath his car, dead, and it was found that his death had resulted from inhaling the exhaust gases of an automobile, the motoring public began to take precautions against this menace.

If one should remain for five minutes in a small unventilated garage, with the door shut and fumes pouring from the car's exhaust he would be beyond the doctor's aid.

If you must work on the car with the engine running attach a hose to the exhaust and run the hose into a pipe that communicates with the outer air. In this way you get rid of those deadly fumes and eliminate the danger of being suffocated by them.

The Hose Carries the Deadly Fumes to the Outside Air and Keeps the Garage Air Pure.

It is very simple to arrange so that this can be done. A hole is made in the wall of the garage, in a convenient position to the rear of the car, and piece of gas-pipe inserted. This pipe should be of sufficient length to protrude about 6 or 8 inches on each side of the wall and, if the wall is wood, duly insulated. Connection is made with a hose.—E. T. Ofeldt in Popular Science Monthly.

KEEP WINDSHIELD CLEAN

Many winter motorists have found that a simple way to keep the windshield clean when the first melting flakes of snow are flying is to apply a mixture of glycerin, salt and water. The glass should first be thoroughly washed and dried, then the mixture is applied with a cloth rubbed in straight lines. Twice as much glycerin as water and a liberal sprinkle of salt will be found efficacious.

VERDIGRIS FORMS ON BRASS

It May Be Removed by Use of Good Metal Polish, Leaving a Clean Smooth Surface.

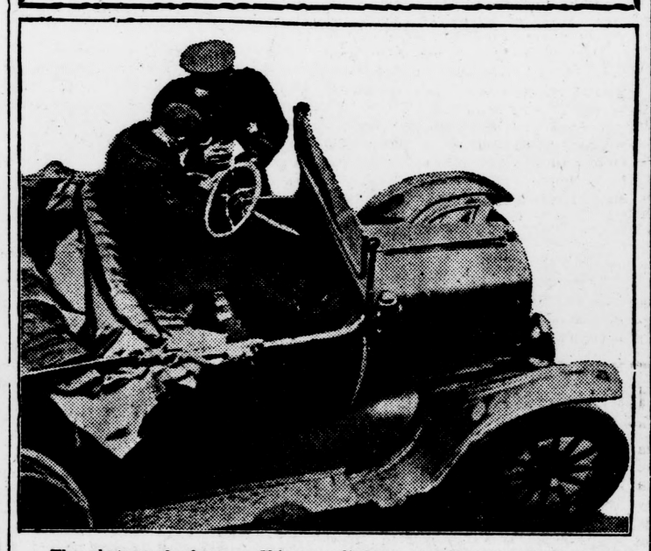
The verdigris that forms on brass may be removed by the following treatment: Mix a good metal polish in equal parts with wood alcohol. Apply with a brush and allow to dry. When dry rub with a clean cloth and the verdigris will come off too, leaving a clean smooth surface. After this the brass may be polished in the usual way.

BE CAREFUL OF SPEEDOMETER

Spinning or Sliding of Rear Wheels Is Liable to Spring or Otherwise Injure Shaft.

When the car has a transmission driven speedometer the rear wheels should never be spun or permitted to slide. This habit is likely to spring or break the speedometer shaft, sometimes causing an error in speedometer reading of anywhere from 2 to 5 per cent.

POLICE GET AFTER TAX DODGERS



The photograph shows a Chicago policeman stopping an unlucky motorist who had neglected to obtain his city vehicle tax. The police of Chicago are stationed at all streets leading into the loop and inspecting all cars to see if the owner has a license.

AUTOMOBILE GOSSIP

Denmark is reported to be an ideal land for automobiles, the roads being good, the land quite flat and the country interesting and attractive for tourists.

Movable spring seats which are used in some cars should receive attention. They should be oiled.

The automobile industry in France is considered the greatest sufferer, due to the presence of so many foreign-built cars obtained from old war stocks.

In India an automobile show will be held in Delhi in February of this year under the auspices of the local motor trade association.

It is estimated that no less than 124,000 motor cars from other states toured in California during 1920.

If You Need a Medicine You Should Have the Best

Have you ever stopped to reason why it is that so many products that are extensively advertised, all at once drop out of sight and are soon forgotten? The reason is plain—the article did not fulfill the promises of the manufacturer. This applies more particularly to a medicine. A medicinal preparation that has real curative value almost sells itself, as like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited, to those who are in need of it.

A prominent druggist says "Take for example Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a preparation I have sold for many years and never hesitate to recommend, for in almost every case it shows excellent results, as many of my customers testify. No other kidney remedy has so large a sale."

According to sworn statements and verified testimony of thousands who have used the preparation, the success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact, so many people claim, that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder ailments; corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism.

You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcels Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention this paper. Large and medium size bottles for sale at all drug stores.—Adv.

Mrs. Jones Knew Exactly What She Was Doing When She Selected Baby's Names.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones had come to that all-important part of naming their new baby.

Mr. Jones, who, by the way, detested work, and liked nothing better than to sit in front of the fire and watch other people do it, wanted the baby named plain "Bill."

Mrs. Jones had different views.

"I shall name the baby William Oliver Robert Kenneth," she asserted.

"But why all those names?" asked her husband.

"Because," replied Mrs. Jones, tartly, "if you look at the initials you will find that they spell 'Work,' so perhaps, when baby grows up, he will take to it better than his father."

REALLY NOT SO FLATTERING

Younger Lady's Explanation of Recognition of Old Friend Had a Certain Sting to It.

A cabinet officer said at a dinner, apropos of certain criticisms on his department:

"Politics—all politics. Nothing, not even woman, is as cruel as politics, and yet woman can be very cruel."

The secretary then told a story about the cruelty of woman.

"One Easter morning," he said, "two ladies met on the Atlantic City boardwalk with little outcries of surprise and joy.

"'Why, Mame!' said the older lady. 'How flattering this is!'

"'Flattering?' said the younger lady, with a perplexed air. 'How so?'

"'You haven't seen me,' said the older lady, 'for 17 years—and yet you recognize me, so to speak, right off the bat. That means I haven't changed so dreadfully, doesn't it?'

"'Oh!' she said, 'you see, I recognized your bonnet.'"

Select Associates Carefully.

You can catch the right kind of habits by associating with people who have them. Pick industrious, cheerful people for your friends, people who mean to succeed and know how to do it. You can expose yourself to all their working habits with profit. And if you get infected with them, it will make a big difference in the ease with which you reach the goal you have set for yourself.—John Blake, in Chicago Daily News.

Flying in England.

Figures reported for the first year of civil flying in England reveal a total air mileage of 734,200, made in 33,954 flights, carrying 70,000 passengers with but one fatal accident. Machines numbering 519 were registered.

Garrett J. Hart

Garrett Jefferson Hart, former adjutant general of Delaware, died suddenly Monday morning, at his home, 710 Nottingham Road, Wawaset, Wilmington, following an attack of heart failure. He retired in his usual health Sunday night, but was aroused at midnight by a severe heart seizure. Drs. P. W. Tomlinson and James A. Draper were hastily summoned, but all attempts to revive him proved futile, and death occurred about two o'clock. He was in his sixty-second year, and prior to his death had been in excellent health.

Gen. Hart was a prominent figure in the military history of the State, having served as adjutant-general for fifteen years, during the terms of four governors.

He is survived by his widow, who was before her marriage, Miss Elizabeth Talley; two brothers, Senators Walter E. and Edward Hart, of Townsend; and one sister, Mrs. Henrietta Parvis, of this town.

TAKE STOCK OF YOUR HEALTH NOW

Winter Brings Many Ills to Pale, Overworked People

TAKE PEPTO-MANGAN

Fortify Your System---Good Blood Will Give You New Strength to Keep Well

If you feel the least bit run down, not necessarily sick, but tired and blue and sort of down and out, it shows plainly that your power of resistance is low.

It is dangerous to go around that way. You don't want to do it.

Make no mistake about it, when you feel yourself slipping into lazy habits, getting indifferent to the things you naturally like—no energy, no vigor, always tired—it is time to look out. It may not mean that you are sick or that you will be. But there are diseases that would have an easy time of it with your system when your blood has no fighting qualities.

You want to be well and keep well and feel strong. If you build up the quality of your blood by taking Pepto-Mangan you will be in trim to fight off winter ills. It has just the right ingredients to build your blood up with rich, red corpuscles.

Pepto-Mangan gives your blood the qualities it needs to pick you up and start you off on a healthy basis. You will notice the difference soon after you start taking it. You will have better color, better feeling, and more energy.

You can take it in liquid or tablet form as you prefer. Both have the same ingredients. But be sure you get the genuine Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Ask for it by that name—"Gude's Pepto-Mangan," and be sure the full name is on the package.

For a Persistent Cough

Some years ago H. P. Burbage, a student at law in Greenville, S. C., had been troubled for a long while with a persistent cough which he says, "greatly alarmed me, causing me to fear that I was in the first stage of consumption." Having seen Chamberlain's Cough Remedy advertised he concluded to try it. "I soon felt a remarkable change and after using two bottles of the small size was permanently cured."

Price Reductions EXTRAORDINARY!

"KEEPING goods moving" is our motto. To do this at a time when all business is slowing up, we have reduced to the new lowered price level all goods in our Store, no matter what they cost originally.

We believe goods are now as low as they will be for at least six months to come. This being so, we believe it will be wise for our patrons to buy freely, at least for all present needs.

Our very heavily cut stocks, CUT HALF IN TWO many of them, certainly offer extraordinary inducements for immediate buying.

Here are few illustrations of our greatly reduced prices.

Winter Suits, Dresses and Coats

These articles, all first class in materials, and well made offer the latest styles, that were priced at $25.00 to $50.00, have been reduced 50%—ONE HALF

BARGAIN SHOES

We have yet a number of pairs of fine ladies' Shoes, small sizes that were sold for $4.50 to $6.00 are now selling for $1.50.

This price is far below what we paid for these high grade Shoes.

MILLINERY

In our Millinery Department we have made even greater reductions, all goods being offered for LESS THAN ONE HALF!

We say again these amazing "cuts" in prices extend to every article in our Store, and it will pay anyone to take advantage of them at once.

Reconstruction Sale

We are sailing into a "Buyer's market"—

and we are all in the same boat.

No matter what your business is—the facts are to be faced.

This country is coming back to normal and no individual or institution can stand in the way.

The hand writing is on the wall for everyone to read and he who turns his back and refuses to go along with the tide will find his business on the rocks of ruin.

We have got to keep faith with each other—there can be no "hunchins."

Speaking for ourself. This store can be depended upon to pass along to its customers the lowest possible prices for the highest possible qualities.

We are giving you prices that truly can't be duplicated.

Everything goes—but the fixtures.
Everything has been reduced—but the rent.
We must turn this stock into money—we're doing it with the only weapon we know of——BARGAINS.

No matter what it is—if it's here— it's the greatest bargain that you ever saw—in many cases at half price.
